

CENTRE FOR REFUGEE STUDIES

McGill Centre for Human Rights
and Legal Pluralism

Centre sur les droits de la personne et le pluralisme
juridique de McGill

CARFMS

Canadian Association for Refugees and Forced Migrations Studies

Present

Conference on Forced Migration:

Human Rights Challenges

11 - 13 May 2011

McGill University Faculty of Law, 3644 Peel St., Montréal

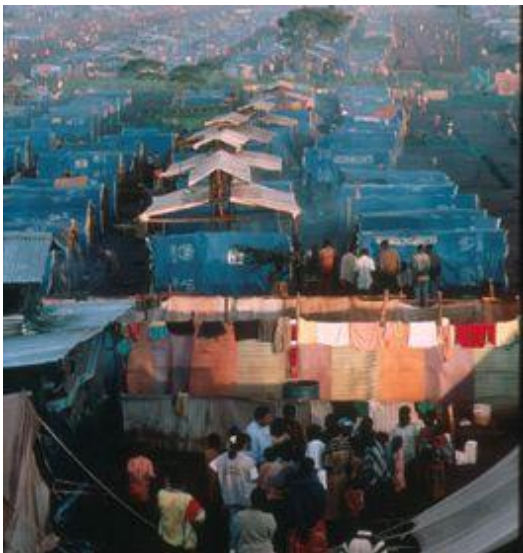

Opening public lecture

Jorge Bustamante, UN Special Rapporteur on the Human Rights of Migrants - Wednesday, May 11th 2011, 6:00 PM to 7:00 PM

Keynote addresses

François Crépeau, Hans & Tamar Oppenheimer Professor in Public International Law, McGill University, Faculty of Law - Thursday, May 12th 2011, 9:30 AM to 10:30 AM

Janet Dench, Canadian Council for Refugees - Friday, May 13th 2011, 9:30 AM to 10:30 AM

The Conference will bring together over 70 researchers, policymakers, and advocates from diverse disciplinary and regional backgrounds to share new research, policy and practice on the human rights of migrants in the current national and international security context.

Panels are structured around the following sub-themes:

- Current trends and challenges in human rights protection of forced migrants
- Human rights and durable solutions to forced migration
- New approaches and theories in forced migration studies

The opening lecture will be given in English. Keynote addresses and panel presentations will be predominantly given in English, while some will be in French. Simultaneous translation into French will be available for the lecture and the two conferences.

The conference is certified for 9 hours of continuing legal education to members of the Quebec Bar, as per its mandatory professional training requirements. Barreau activity no. 10033653.

Participants are required to register. For the full program, more information and RSVP:

<http://carfmsconference.yorku.ca/>

CHAIRE HANS ET TAMAR OPPENHEIMER
EN DROIT INTERNATIONAL PUBLIC
HANS & TAMAR OPPENHEIMER CHAIR
IN PUBLIC INTERNATIONAL LAW

McGill

Faculty of Law Faculté de
Droit