

Libya Domestic Media, August 12 (covering August 9 – August 19)
By Siena Anstis, MIGS Reporter for Libya

State-owned media

(Suna news agency website, Khartoum, in English 12 Aug 10)

Leader of the Justice and Equality Movement (JEM) in Darfur, Khalil Ibrahim, will be leaving Libya in the coming days. Presidents Al-Bashir and al-Qadhafi have agreed that the Doha negotiation is the sole forum for solving the Darfur issue.

Privately-owned media

(Yonhap news agency, Seoul, in English 0702 GMT 17 Aug 10)

Libya's diplomatic mission will resume in Seoul after the end of Ramadan next month. The bureau has been closed since June apparently in response to Libya accusing South Korea of espionage.

(The Guardian website, Lagos, in English 15 Aug 10)

Libya and Nigeria are currently in the process of resuming diplomatic ties which were damaged by al-Qadhafi calling that Nigeria be split along religious and then ethnic lines.

(Miraya FM, Juba, in English 0000 GMT 14 Aug 10)

The Darfuri Justice and Equality Movement (JEM) refuses to return to negotiations with the Sudanese government, regardless of whether Libya hosted or expelled its leader, Khalil Ibrahim.